

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Academic Therapy has been an established leader in the field of special education publishing since 1965. Over the years, ATP's line of educational materials has expanded to include publications that not only address the needs of learning disabled students, also other special needs individuals including learners with limited English proficiency and those involved in remedial basic education and literacy programs. ATP has three divisions:

ACADEMIC THERAPY PUBLICATIONS – Testing and Curriculum

HIGH NOON BOOKS – High Interest, Low Vocabulary

ANN ARBOR DIVISION – Visual Training

ATP materials are available throughout the U.S. and in many overseas locations through a network of distributors. This network facilitates speedy, localized response for customer orders and does not control the pricing or order fulfillment of any of its distributors. All materials are available directly from us, the publisher, at the lowest available retail prices with a minimal taxable handling charge. The current handling fee for all orders is 10% (minimum $5.00).
