

REEF DIVE

MATT SIMS

Reef Dive

Matt Sims

High Noon Books

Series Editor: Deb Akers
Content Editors: Elly Rabben and Steve Shea
Illustrations: www.amerartists.com

Copyright 2010, by High Noon Books, 20 Commercial Blvd., Novato, CA 94949-6191. All rights reserved. Printed in the United States of America. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior written permission of the publisher.

International Standard Book Number: 978-1-57128-532-4

19 18 17 16 15 14 13 12 11 10
10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

You'll enjoy all the High Noon Books. Write for a free full list of titles or visit our website at www.HighNoonBooks.com.

Contents

Down the Coast	1
The Green Boat	5
Down in the Reef.....	9
The Old Ship	14
Help the Reef!	18
Paint Cans	22

Down the Coast

Glen and Trish had a plan. They would meet on the dock at five. They would check the maps for a trip down the coast.

There were masks and tanks set out on the deck of the big boat. Trish and Glen had to check each one. There was a lot to do! But the pals were up for the trip.

The next day the boat would sail to a big reef. Trish and Glen would dive in the sea and swim to the reef.

“I bet there is an old ship by that reef,” said Trish as they drove to

There were masks and tanks set out on the deck of the big boat.

the dock. “It could be an old steam boat. What if it has a bunch of cash?”

Glen did not think there was a ship down there. But he did still want to dive.

He had seen a show on the sea plants and small fish in reefs. It was his dream to swim in a reef.

The Green Boat

The sea was flat as their small boat came next to the reef.

“We can stop by that beach,” said Trish. “We will dive down to the ship in no time at all.”

They set up by an old dock. It was made of strong planks. They tied a rope to a plank. Now the boat would not drift.

The pals got all of their stuff out to check it. But then Glen saw a big green boat. It was a mile from them to the boat.

“Trish, look at that boat,” said Glen.

“We should wait to

“Trish, look at that boat,” said Glen.

dive. I do not want to show them what we find,” said Trish.

“We can wait till the sun is up to dive,” said Glen. “It will be dusk in a bit.”

“Yes, we will dive when the sun is up,” said Trish.